

SENSORY MAP

For finding less-crowded, quiet spaces and relaxing areas

Welcome to the Art Institute of Chicago

We are committed to making our programs and services accessible to everyone. This map can help you find sensory-friendly spaces in the museum that are less brightly lit, quieter, and less crowded.

Please keep in mind that some spaces in the museum are dedicated to temporary exhibitions where the nature of the space might change.

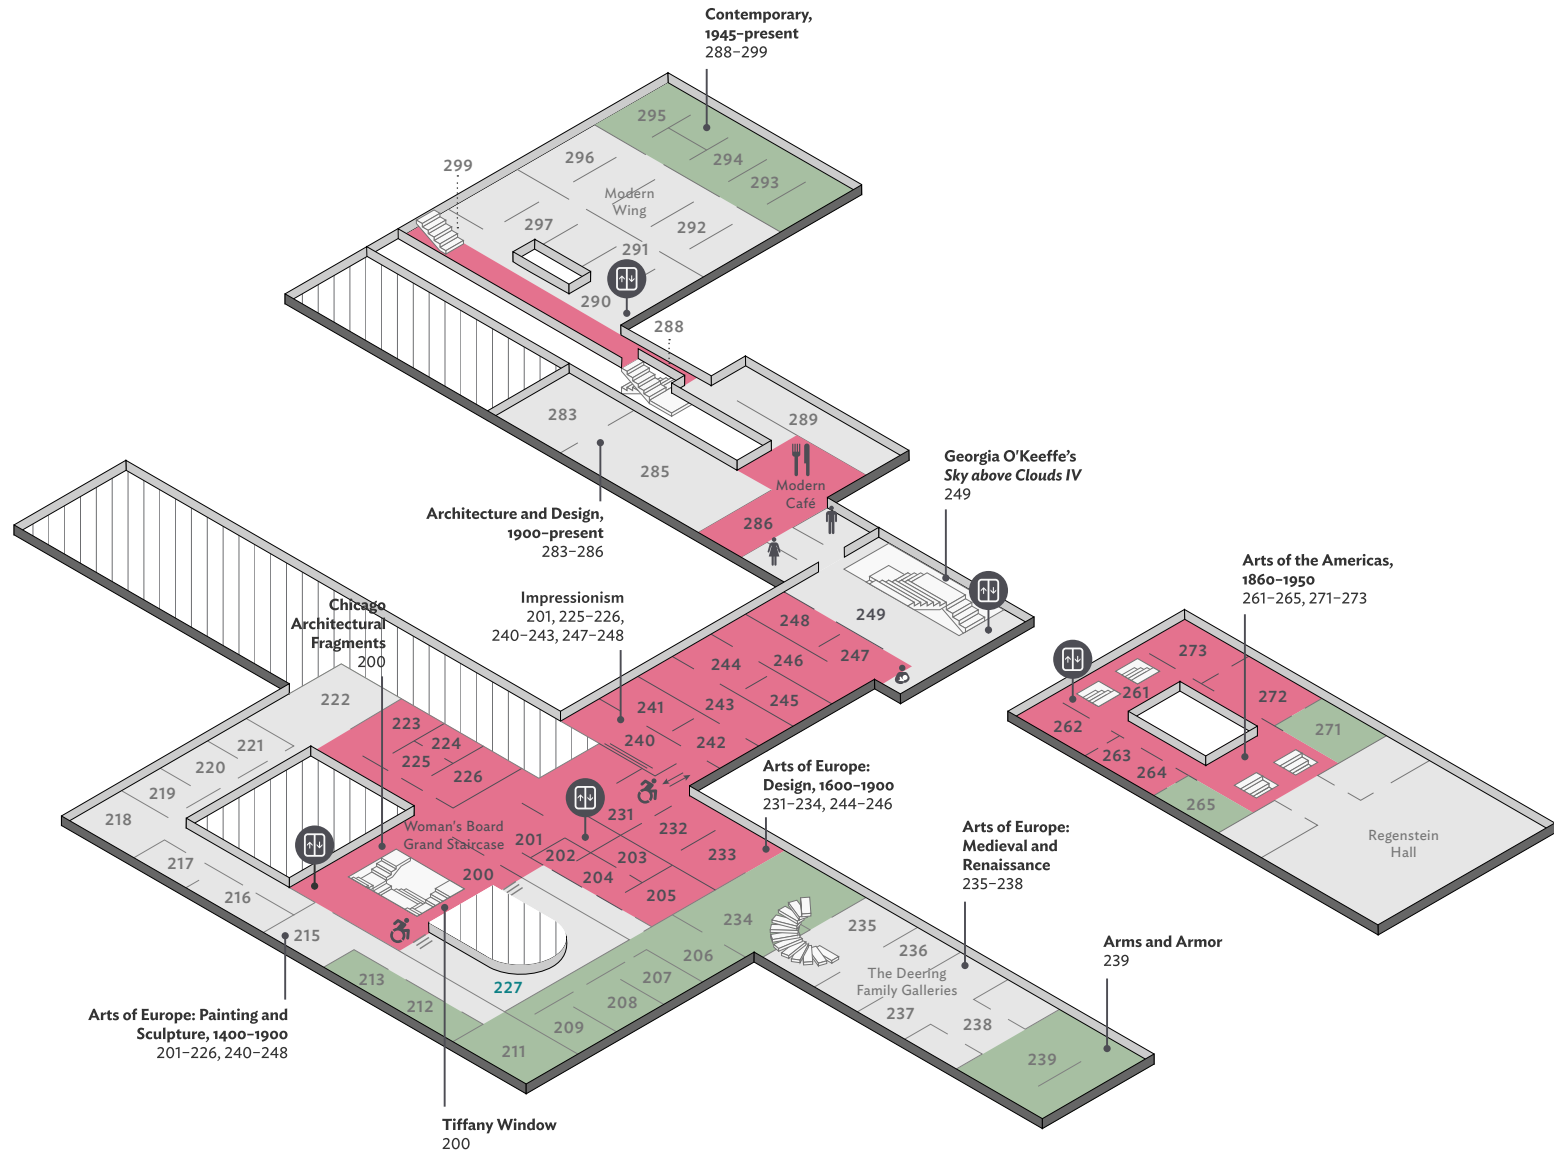

LL

- Often uncrowded and quiet
- Can be crowded and noisy

The RLC is open Thursday–Monday, 11:00–3:00, as well as select additional dates. Visit artic.edu for the most up-to-date schedule.

- Often uncrowded and quiet
- Can be crowded and noisy

3

- Often uncrowded and quiet
- Can be crowded and noisy

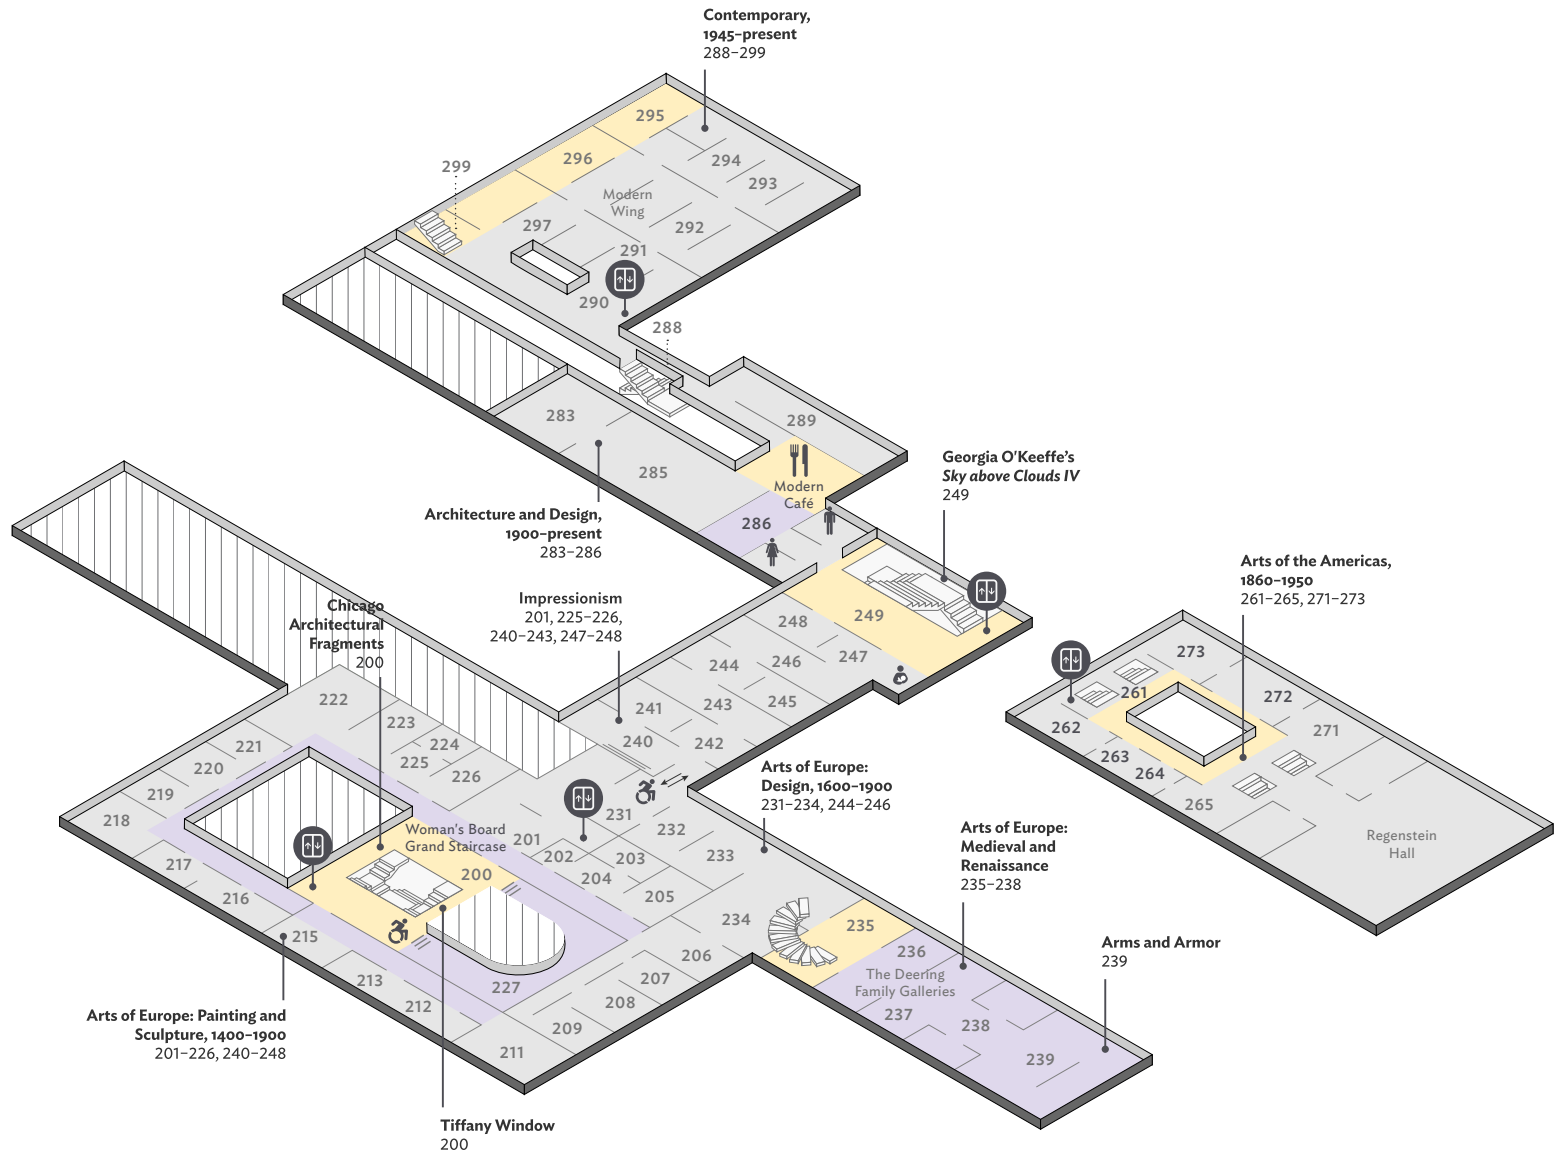

-  Natural light
-  Low or subdued light

The RLC is open Thursday–Monday, 11:00–3:00, as well as select additional dates. Visit artic.edu for the most up-to-date schedule.

- Natural light
- Low or subdued light

3

 Natural light

 Low or subdued light

 Tactile engagement

The RLC is open Thursday–Monday, 11:00–3:00, as well as select additional dates. Visit artic.edu for the most up-to-date schedule.

More Information

We offer a variety of programs and resources to make the museum more accessible and enjoyable for visitors.

For more information, visit artic.edu/visit/accessibility.

If you have questions or would like to request an accommodation, please email access@artic.edu.