

Sensory Map

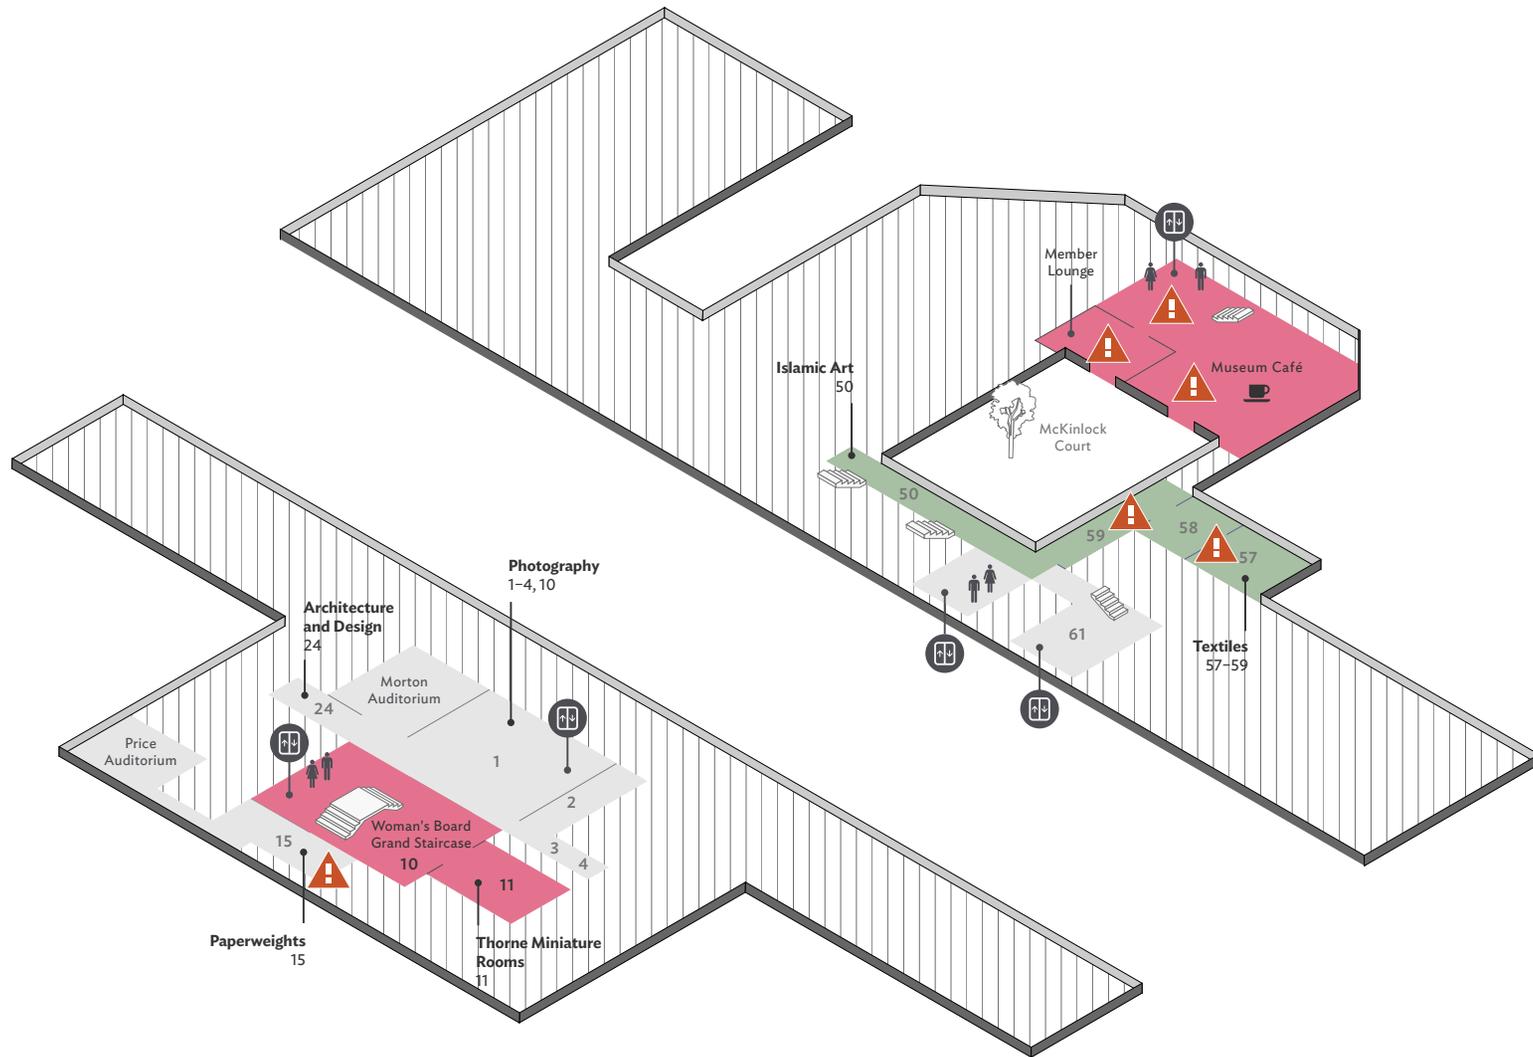

For finding less-crowded, quiet spaces
and relaxing areas

Welcome to the Art Institute of Chicago

We are committed to making our programs and services accessible to everyone. This map can help you find sensory-friendly spaces in the museum that are less brightly lit, quieter, and less crowded.

Please keep in mind that some spaces in the museum are dedicated to temporary exhibitions where the nature of the space might change.

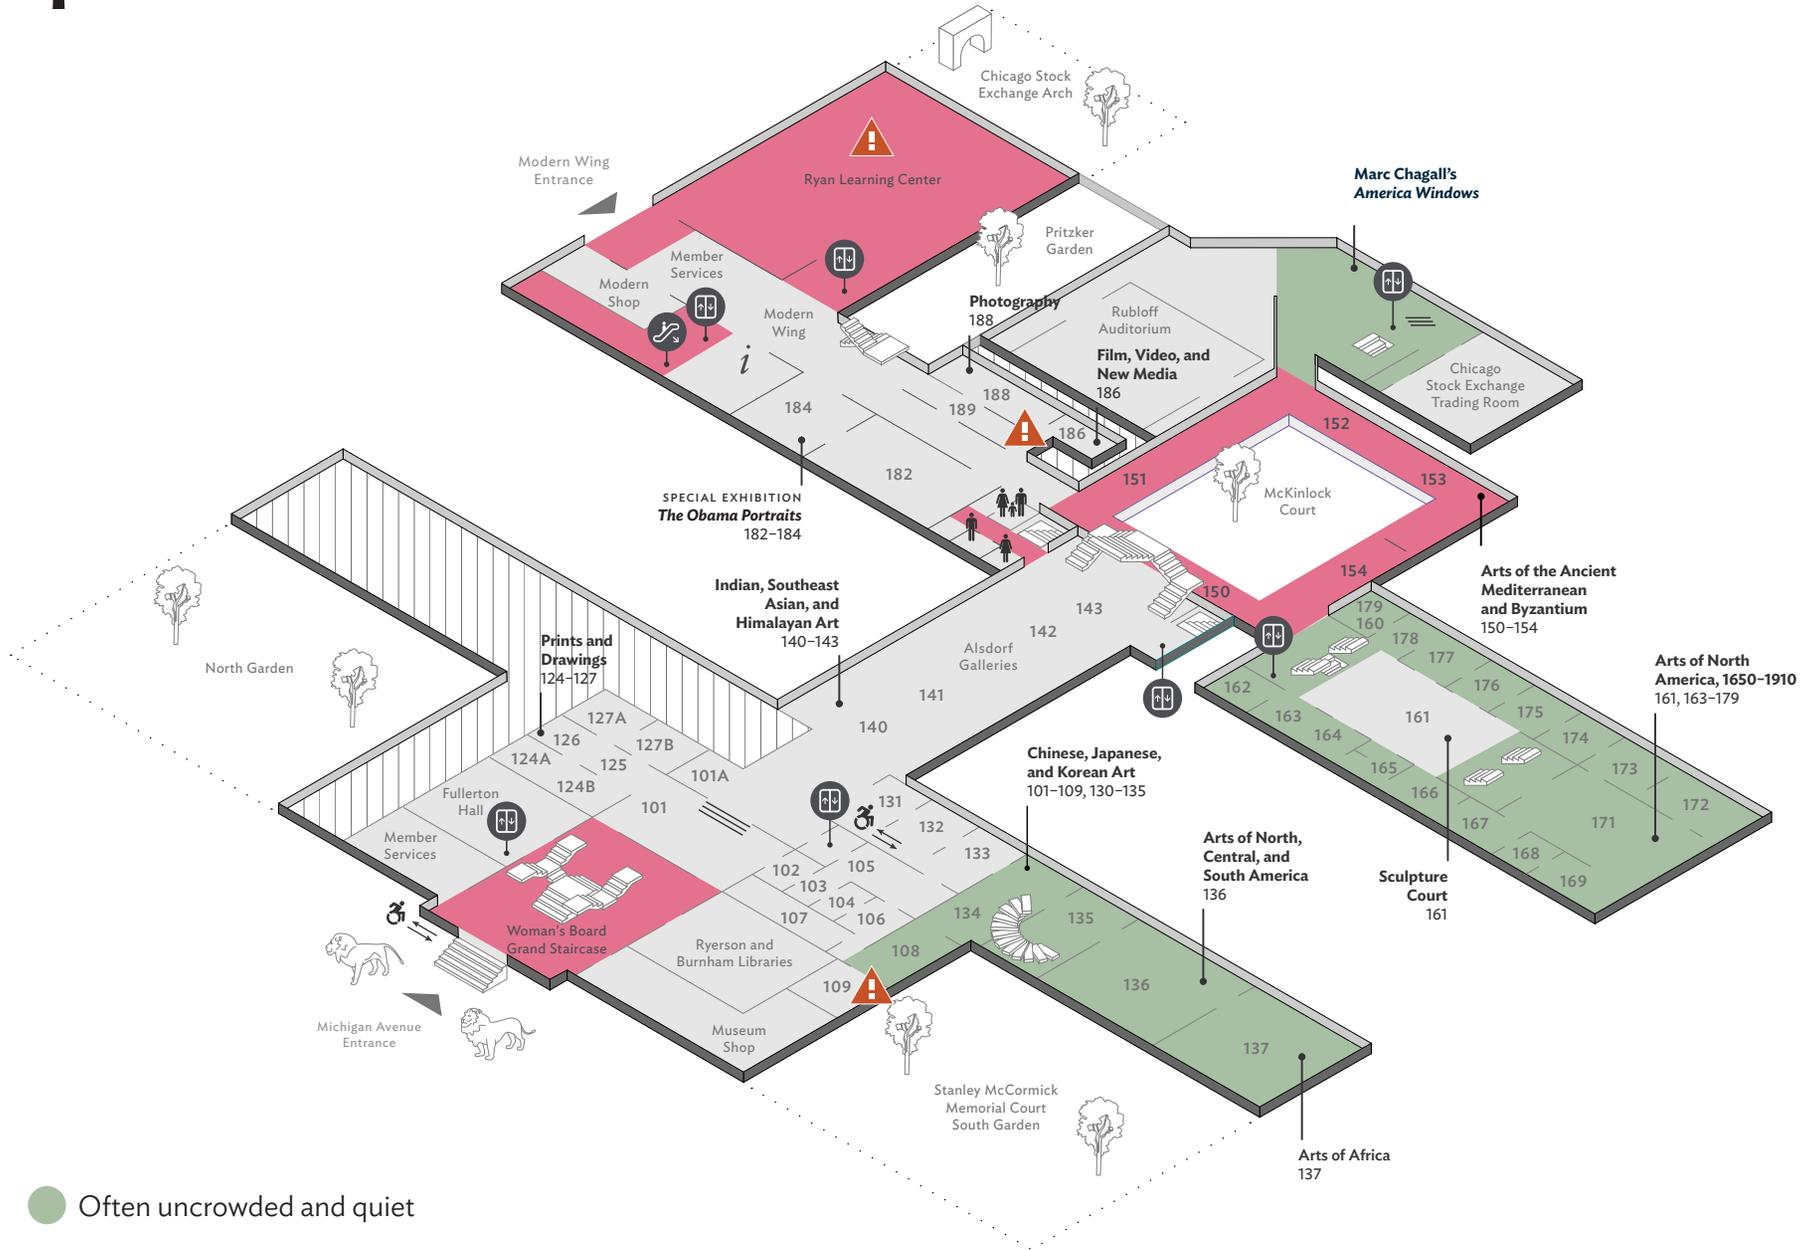

LL

● Often uncrowded and quiet

● Can be crowded and noisy

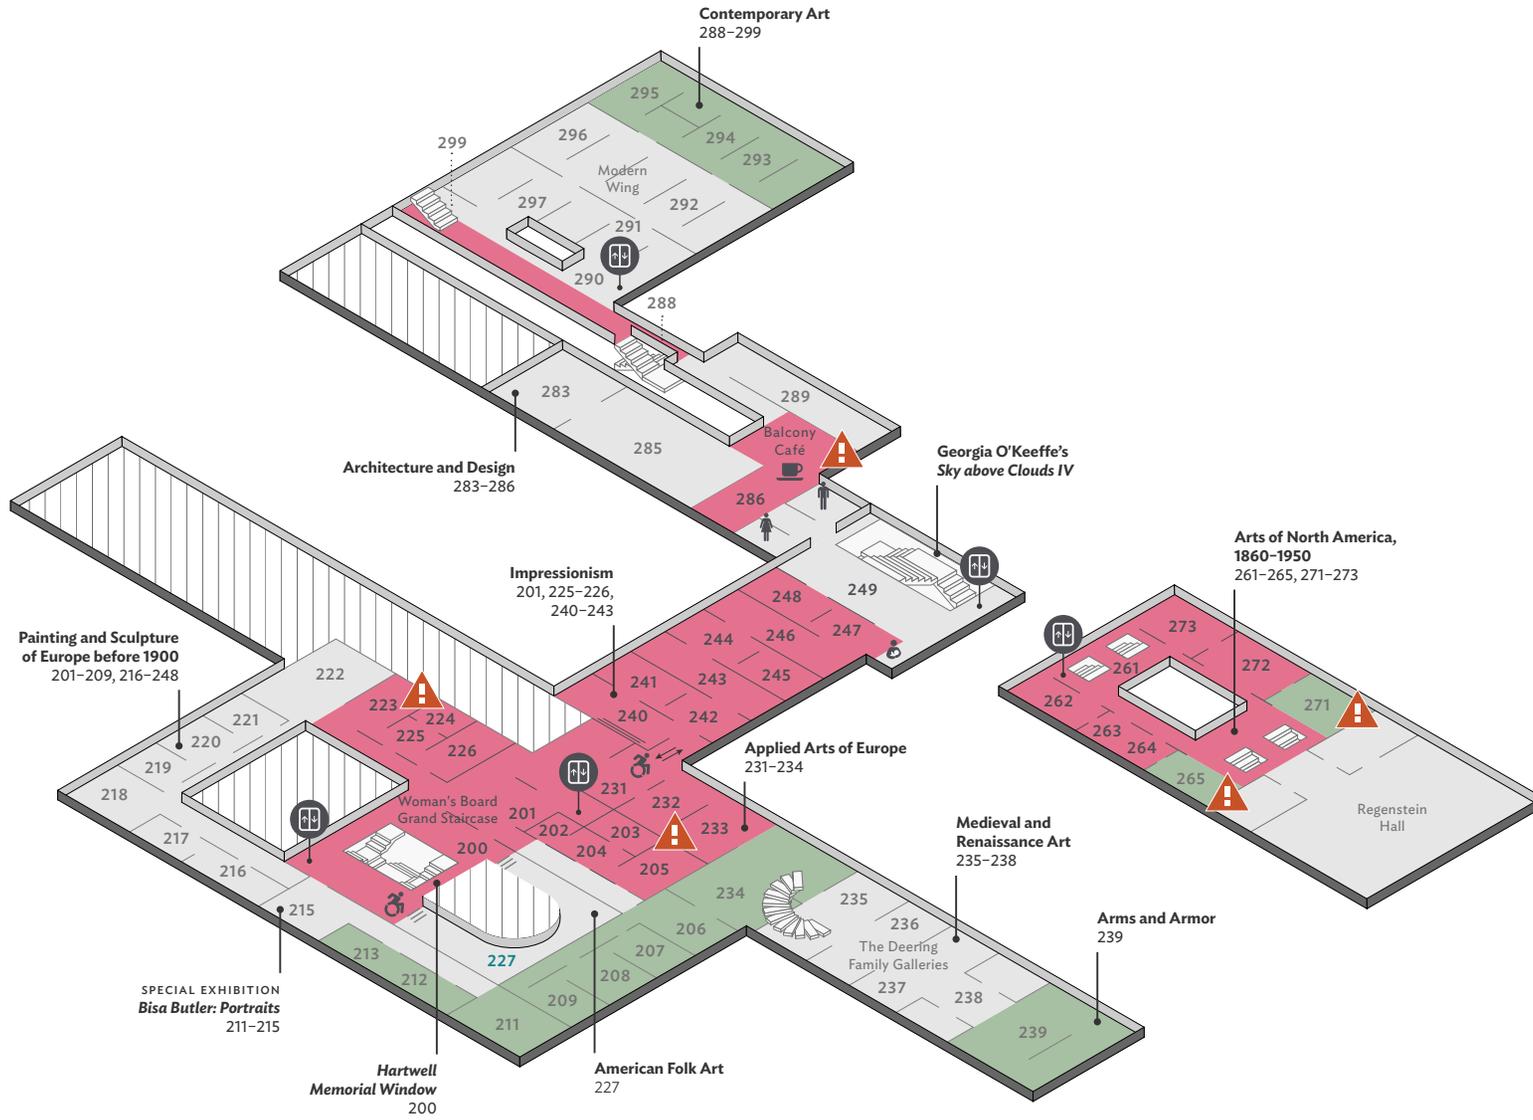

⚠ Currently closed

● Often uncrowded and quiet

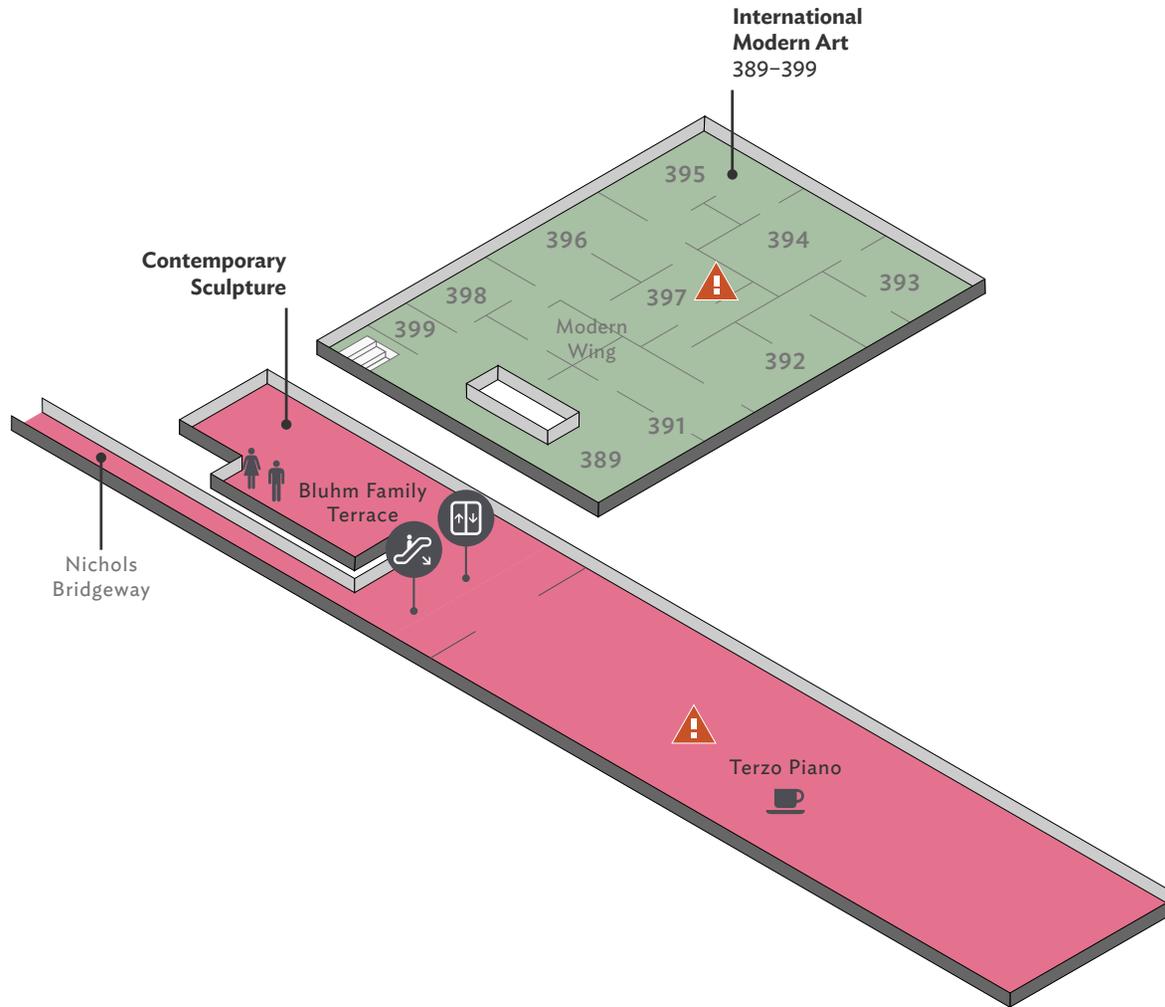

● Can be crowded and noisy

▲ Currently closed

- Often uncrowded and quiet
- Can be crowded and noisy
- ⚠ Currently closed

3

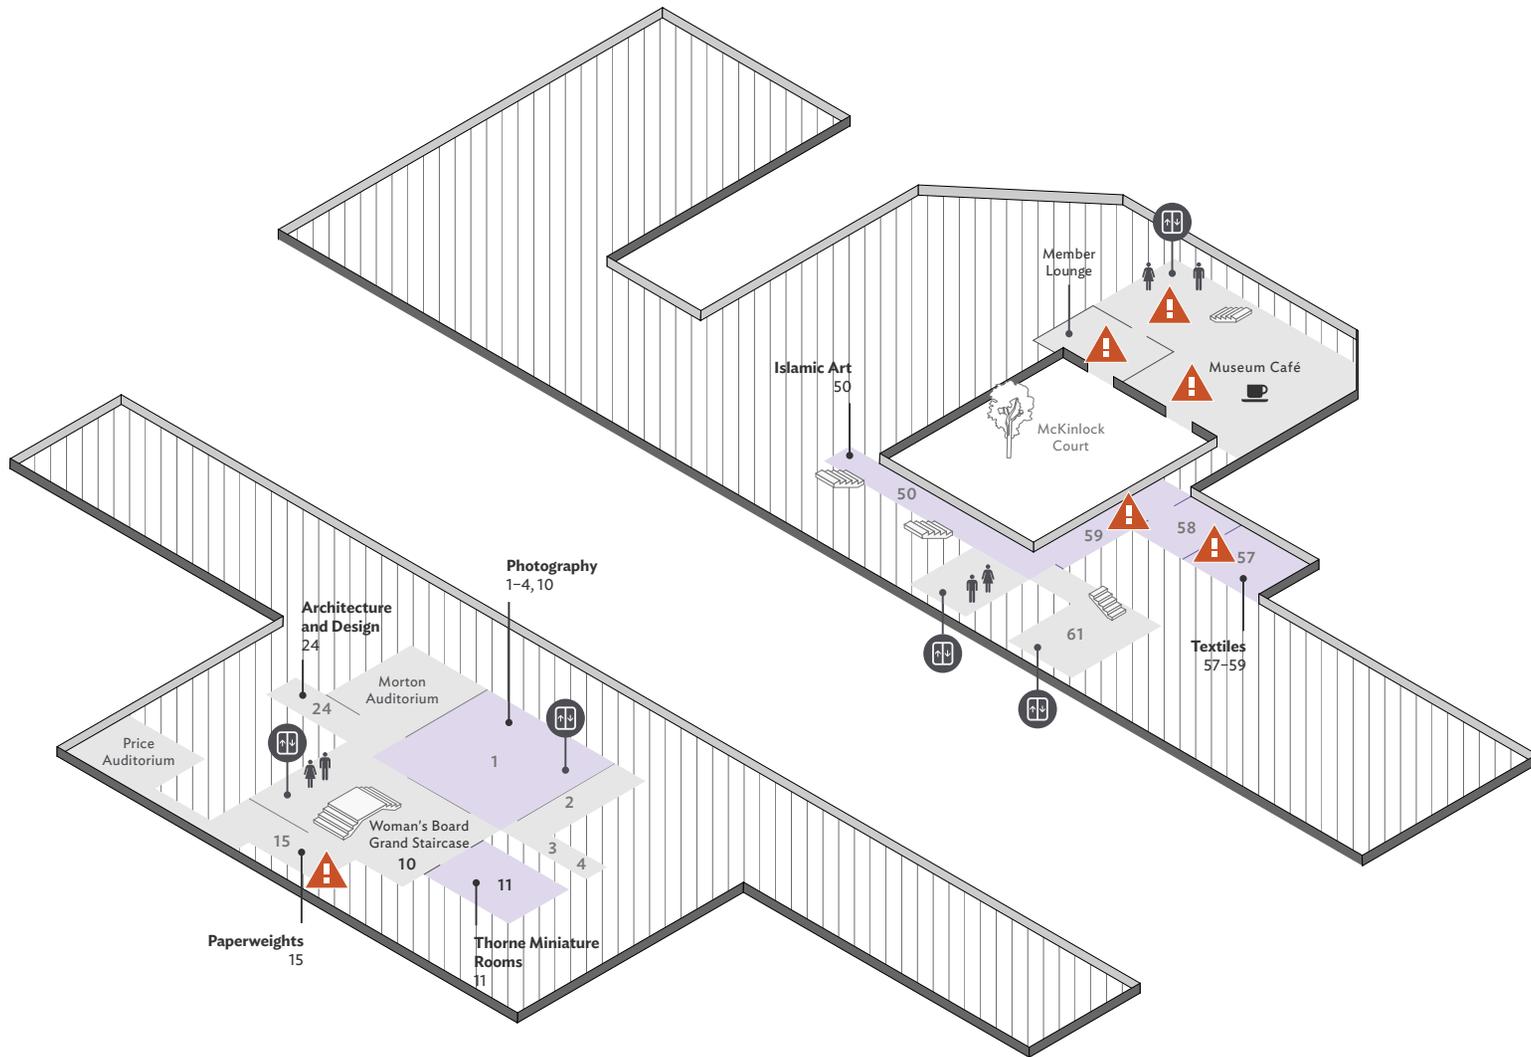

● Often uncrowded and quiet

● Can be crowded and noisy

⚠ Currently closed

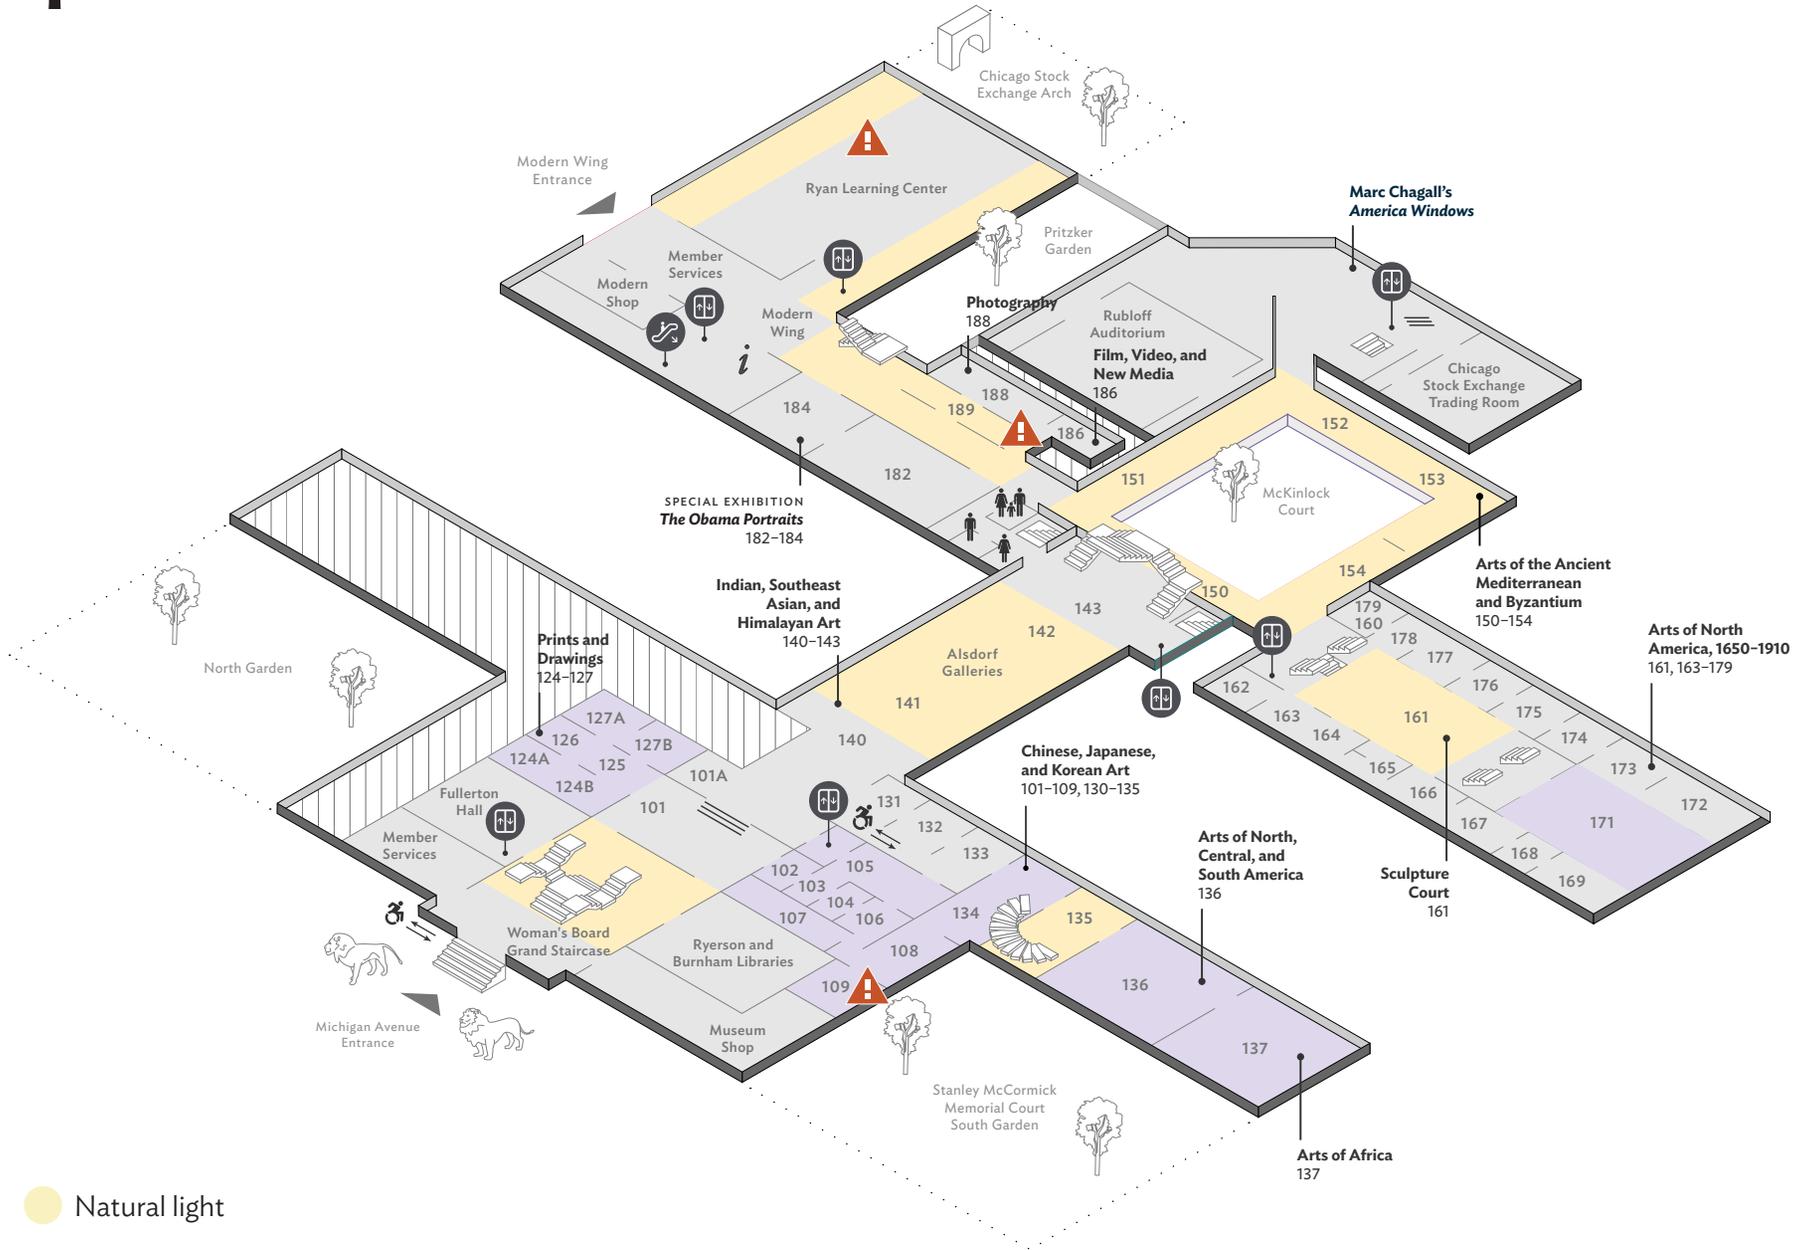

LL

● Natural light

● Low or subdued light

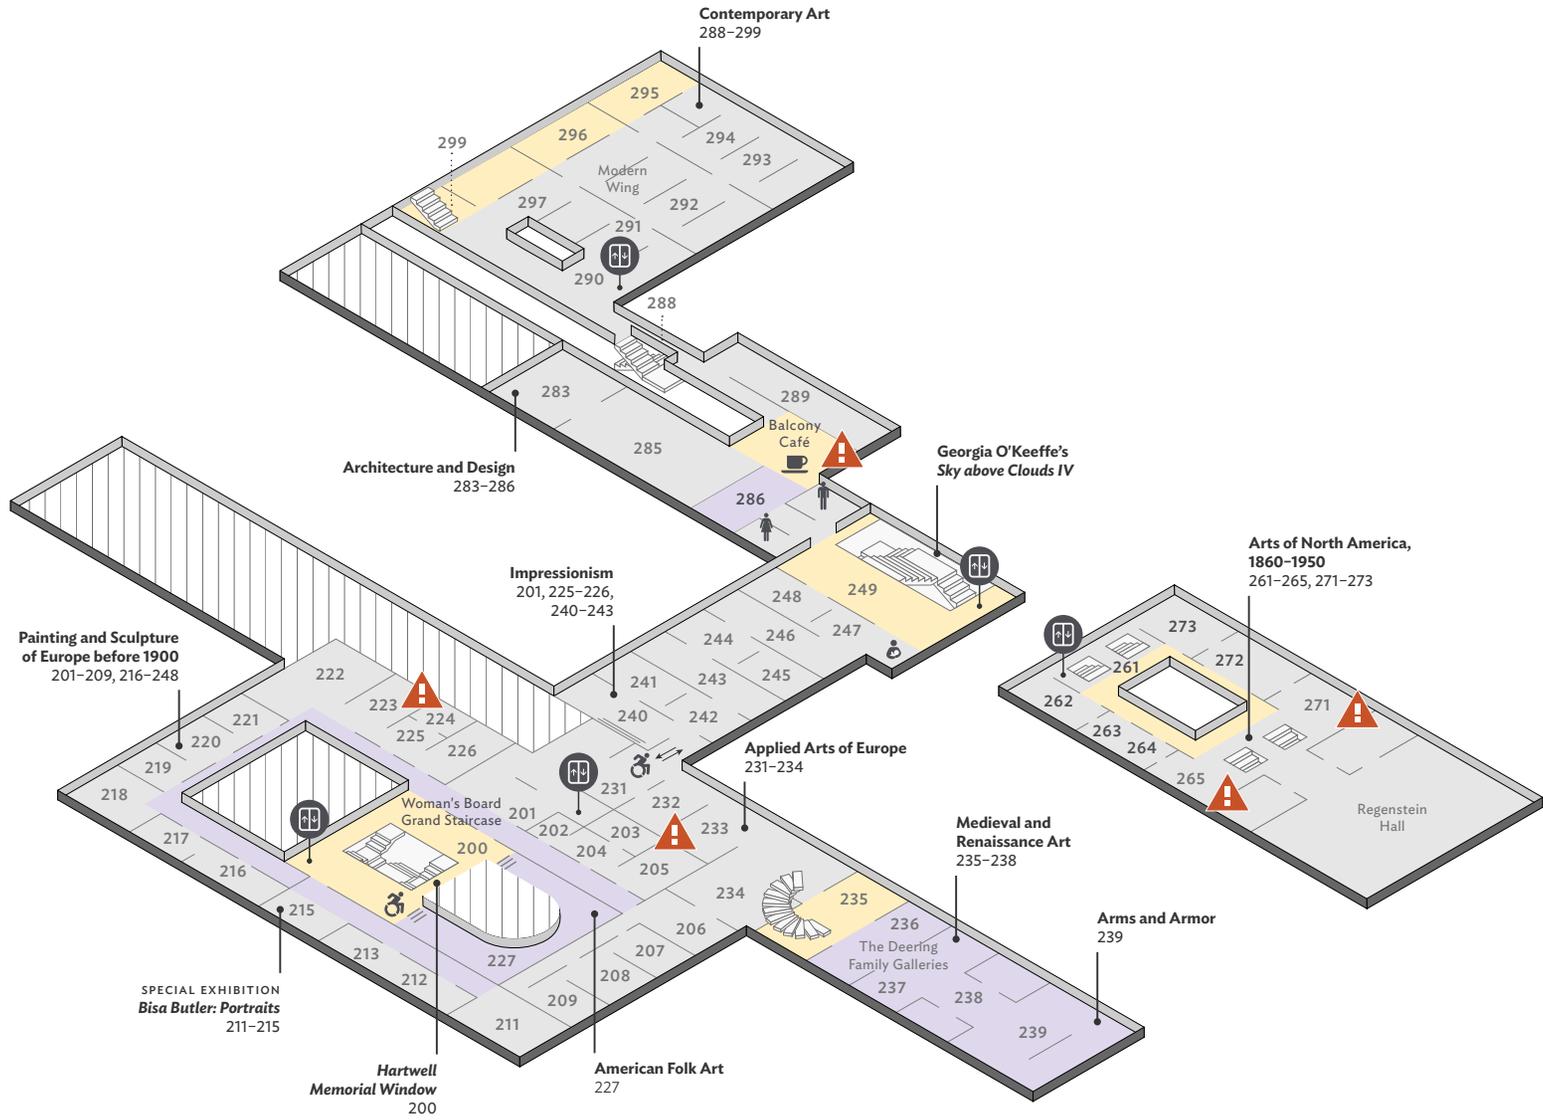

▲ Currently closed

● Natural light

● Low or subdued light

▲ Currently closed

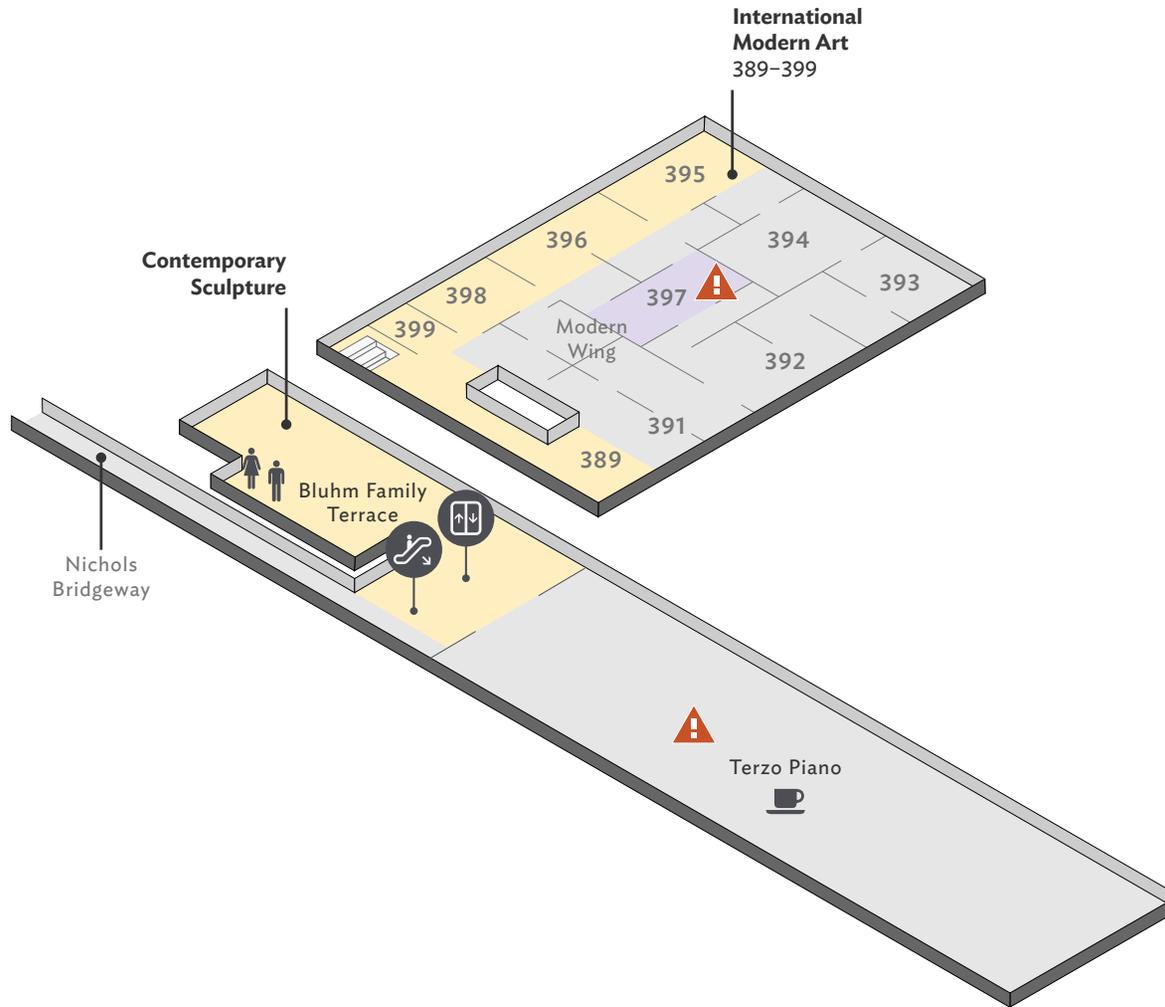

● Natural light

● Low or subdued light

▲ Currently closed

3

● Natural light

● Low or subdued light

⚠ Currently closed

More Information

We offer a variety of programs and resources to make the museum more accessible and enjoyable for visitors.

For more information, visit artic.edu/visit/accessibility.

If you have questions or would like to request an accommodation, please email access@artic.edu.