ART INSTITVTE CHICAGO

ENGAGING WITH WORKS OF ART

What new understandings and ideas can we create when we look closely, ask questions, and make connections with works of art?

Are you doing this activity at school or at home?

Follow these suggestions to make your experience fun and successful.

- Search for images of artworks on the Art Institute of Chicago's website: www.artic.edu/collection or look for other objects around you that could help you complete the activity.
- Work together with classmates, family members, or friends to complete the activity and share what you create.

create.
Take few minutes to explore the mu respond to the following questions b	iseum gallery you are in. Choose a work of art thoy writing or drawing.	hat intrigues you and
Name of artist	Title	Date
Observe
What do you see or notice? Note a	t least five observations.
What pulled your attention to this v	work? What do you find interesting?
Connect
	details or elements in the work? For example, in a cloudy sky and wind-blown trees.	you might notice repeated
Can you find connections between	this work and your own life and experiences?

Grade Level 4-12 Common Core Standards: W.2, W.4

Question
What do you wonder? What questions do you have about what you see here or about the artist or time period in which this was made?
We can't always answer all of our questions, but questions drive our learning. What further information would you want to help you understand this work?
Create
Create What new understandings have you gained now that you have explored this work?
	ld
What new understandings have you gained now that you have explored this work? If time allows, create something new inspired by this work of art. You might write a poem using words that describe what you observe. Or create a short dance or movement that evokes what you see, which you coul	ld
What new understandings have you gained now that you have explored this work? If time allows, create something new inspired by this work of art. You might write a poem using words that describe what you observe. Or create a short dance or movement that evokes what you see, which you coul	ld
What new understandings have you gained now that you have explored this work? If time allows, create something new inspired by this work of art. You might write a poem using words that describe what you observe. Or create a short dance or movement that evokes what you see, which you coul	ld —
What new understandings have you gained now that you have explored this work? If time allows, create something new inspired by this work of art. You might write a poem using words that describe what you observe. Or create a short dance or movement that evokes what you see, which you coul	ld —
What new understandings have you gained now that you have explored this work? If time allows, create something new inspired by this work of art. You might write a poem using words that describe what you observe. Or create a short dance or movement that evokes what you see, which you coul	ld —
What new understandings have you gained now that you have explored this work? If time allows, create something new inspired by this work of art. You might write a poem using words that describe what you observe. Or create a short dance or movement that evokes what you see, which you coul	ld
What new understandings have you gained now that you have explored this work? If time allows, create something new inspired by this work of art. You might write a poem using words that describe what you observe. Or create a short dance or movement that evokes what you see, which you coul	ld —
What new understandings have you gained now that you have explored this work? If time allows, create something new inspired by this work of art. You might write a poem using words that describe what you observe. Or create a short dance or movement that evokes what you see, which you coul	ld —
What new understandings have you gained now that you have explored this work? If time allows, create something new inspired by this work of art. You might write a poem using words that describe what you observe. Or create a short dance or movement that evokes what you see, which you coul	ld —